

Society Publishes Town History

The Chittenden Historical Society has printed a third edition of its book, Chittenden, Vermont: A Town History, about the history of our town. Written, compiled and edited by Fran Wheeler and Karen Webster, the volume holds over 300 pages of town history from its beginning in 1780 and gives the early history, and the businesses, industry, military, school and church history that filled two and a quarter centuries. Genealogy of the earliest settlers is included.

The first printing was 300 books, priced at $30 each plus shipping for out-of-town orders. Unheard of these days, but the second and third printing prices have remained the same. Postage has increased to $4.00 per book for orders by mail.

All profits will go to the Chittenden Historical Society.
